BUTCHERS ASSOCIATION -- Of the cooperative institutions which have been from time time inaugurated in our midst, no one has more fully realized the benefits of the system than the Wheeling Butchers Association. It has been established some slight years, having been chartered in the year 1870. The objects sought in the formation were the better prices obtainable for hides and tallow in large quantities, and the more markstable classification of allently undermine the citadel of life iteight years, having been chartered in the hides and tallow in large quantities, and the more marketable classification of them according the recognized grades eatablished by the rules of the trade. While these articles had always aggregated a large quantity yet those of the different butchers, taken singly, did not amount to enough to justify the seeking of any thing better than the home market for their sale. The Association includes in its membership all of the principal butchers in the city, with the exception of Schenck & Zocekler and the Zocekler Bros. It commenced business with a capital stock of five thousand dollars, which we believe has never been increased or diminished, but suffices as the basis of a business aggregating from fifty to sixty thousand dollars per annum.

The Association handles 30,000 pounds of tallow per month, about 100 beef hides per week, and during the spring season about 300 calf hides per month. Schults the Zaceville soap manufacturer; gets the larger portion of their tallow, while the hides, of which there are five or six classifications, find a market secording to the specific wants of different sections of the country. Under the present arrangements the Association has steadly realized better prices for their goods than at any time previous to the co-operative system. There are some thirty members in the organization and the business of the concern is principally drawn from the supplies furnished by the members, although not an inconsiderable supply is drawn from outside

The Busy Bee Literary Society gave a public entertainment on last Friday evening to a crowded house. The performance was a surprise to many, from the fact that all the members of the society sers so young, that it was not expected that they would be able to do so well in their first effort. But the general verdict, as far as I have heard it expressed, is that it was about as good a performance as has been given in the school hall for some time.

The performances consisted of dialogues, speeches and tableaux all of which were rendered in a manner that shows good native talent in the performers, which by proper practice and cultivation, will make No. 1 performers of some of the members. One of the best, and most enjoyable features of the evening's enter-tainment, was the awest music discoursed by the Bryson String Band of this place assisted by McConkey on the Cornet, and Miss Nannie Warden on the organ. Every thing passed off pleasantly except that a few gentlemen (?) forgot for the time being what good behavior is and made more noise than the occasion demanded.

The lecture of Prof. McBeth, announced for Saturday night at the Presbyterian Church, did not come oil from the lact that the andience was wanting. There is no use in any lecturer trying to get a 50 cent andience in Moundaville. Half doi-lars are too scarce just now to indulge in auch luxuries.

At a support table night before last a conversation had been carried on for quite a while on a marriage to take place soon, and the merits of the bride were discussed quite freely, and also the probabilities of her making a good wife. All title seven year old boy at the table had evidently been an attentive listener, though he had not been noticed. The company were surprised to hear him remark, as he leaned over to kiss his mother: "Ma, when I get hig enough I'm going to marry a lady just like you. Wouldn't too marry me, ma?" queried the jittle fellow.

The Use of Tea and Coffee.
From the Physiologist and Family Physician.
Question—Is the use of coffee and tea with our meals injurious?
Answer—They have been charged with producing dyspepsias, neuralgias and other injurious effects upon the stomach, bowels and nervous system generally.
I quote the opinions of the following well-known authors upon this subject, and would add that my own personal and professional experience fully coincides with the views herein presented.
Dr. Johnson says: We are convinced by many years' observation that very many of the diseases we are called upon to treat, as dyspepsia, nervous and sick headache, heart diseases, paralysis, epilepsy, neuralgia, etc., etc., are the legitimate and certain fruit of these naroctic stimulants.
Hahnemann describes a number of diseases induced by these beverages, and assures us "that they are most insidious and dangerous enemies, which slowly and silently undermine the citadel of life itself."
Dr. Blutzeff, of Boston, says, "of all the common beverages drank in society, coffee is decidedly the worst."

Nature Demands a Tonic

When the nerves are unstrung, the head sches, the appetite is poor or variable, the aleep disturbed, and a general depreciation of vital power is experienced. Such a state of things cannot long exist without the development of serious disease. The most active and genial invigorant known is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The absolute purity of its spirituos basis and botanic ingredients gives it a permanent claim to public condience, and tis surpassing medicinal value is admitted by medical men of distinction, by whom it is widely used in private practice. For fever and agueboth as a preventive and remedy—dispepsia, liver complaint, billious remittent fever, constipation, cholerate complaints, fatulence, and all intestinal disorders, it is a thoroughly reliable remedy. It is the antifebrile specific par excellence of the malarial districts of this and other countries, where disease born of minams prevail, and as a general household remedy it is also universally esteemed.
